Gospel Reflection for the Most Holy Trinity Good Parenting

What makes a good parent? Those who are struggling to bring up children might tussle with this question, but one thing is for sure, a good parent gives us unconditional love and a sense of true worth and importance. A good parent gives us the confidence to tackle life and all its challenges head on.

God is our heavenly Father, and as such we are promised his unconditional love. "God did not send the son into the world to condemn the world, but in order that the world might be saved." Despite our faults, despite our endless mistakes, despite the mess we make of things, and despite our reluctance to change, God works always to transform us through his son's example and the subsequent guidance of his Holy Spirit.

Lest we become complacent, it is still possible to be condemned despite God's unconditional love. Everyone knows of children who have come off the rails despite all the efforts of loving and exemplary parents. Similarly those who do not turn to God are condemned already we are told, not by God, but by the poor choices they themselves have made.

As ever, the choices are there for the making. God does not ever remove his love; we simply choose to live with-in it, or without it.
